Allison and Richard,

More information ... in the first link, in the second segment at 2:08 (see the segment listings in the right column), John Disney repeats the statements about talking to NOAA scientists who are "extremely excited" about someone doing this on a larger scale. He refers to free equipment and free advice.

Just more (public) information here.

FYI:

I heard the following 9 minute interview with John Disney, president of the Haida Salmon Restoration Corporation and economic development office for the Old Massett Village Council, about the OF project on the radio last night.

On Monday, it was also a topic of discussion on the same show:
