Sorry for the multiple emails on a Friday morning.

I am working with the EPA and State Dept colleagues here to develop some joint guidance which we should have finalized by Monday regarding the IMO media release. Their respective communications/public affairs offices will be looped in. Given the Friday timing I imagine there won't be a lot of inquiries.

Also, given the sensitivities surrounding the issue, if there are any inquiries, we may wish to keep any answers to the media limited to the statement that was previously released which clarified the drifters situation.

In the meantime, if anyone has thoughts on what types of questions/inquiries may come forward after the media release, please pass them along to me so we can fold them in.

Thanks again,
Allison
